Dear members of the academia, dear colleagues,

we would like to draw your attention to the possibility of using financial support for the coverage of costs of language corrections for articles published in the Open Access regime from the OP VVV CZ.02.2.69/0.0/0.0/18_054/0014642 “Strategic Setting of Human Resources at CZU” (HRA CZU) project.

Conditions

- the application for financial support can be submitted by an employee of CZU or a doctoral candidate (always one of the members of the team of authors of the article);
- the article, for the language corrections of which financial support is to be provided, must include an affiliation to CZU;
- the documents receiving support must be published in the Open Access regime;
- the application for the financial support for language corrections can be submitted by employees or doctoral candidates of CZU who are (co-)authors of an article published (or accepted for publication) in a journal which is (on the day of submission of application) a part of the Web of Science database, ranking Q1 or Q2 according to AIS;
- the application for financial support can be submitted only for articles, for which CZU covered the costs of language corrections in the given year – the costs are reimbursed retroactively, but only if they fall onto the same financial year; applications are assessed continuously
